In the course of engaging in business for a long period of time, I learned by actually doing. While doing so, I mainly conducted corporate training (for a company that you undoubtedly know) based on the learning needs demonstrated by society. Due in part to being derived from that corporate training (which is mainly aimed at executives), the content that I will teach you is more on the practical than the academic side. I will instruct you so that you have as many weapons available to you as possible to allow you to overcome trouble after you become a working member of society. Society can be like a battlefield. It can also be an adventure that goes on endlessly. I will provide you with a compass and map that you can use so that you do not enter the working world unprepared and meet with a disaster. I am mindful to conduct enjoyable lectures that will clear your head based on my motto of "It's not studying if it's not fun."

Specialization

Psychology, marketing

Brief explanation regarding specialization

Since my activities over time mainly consisted of corporate training (aimed at executives), the instruction that I provide is divided into the three steps of knowing, understanding and successfully applying mainly in practical study that can be used in the actual field (output-model), communication psychology based on actual learning that can be applied in practice (with a primary focus on character-formation analysis, rational-emotive therapy and transactional analysis) and consumer psychology marketing (buying psychology/behavioral psychology). In doing so, I make this more of a practical than an academic discipline.

While jokingly misquoting Pascal, someone once said that "Man is thinking legs." "Walk, but think" is another way to put this. While I am not ordering you to think, I would like you to feel flustered, flurried and fidgety at the unfocused ideas that are sensed and evoked as you walk about here and there. That experience of feeling flustered is, in my opinion, a very important one.

Specialization

History of ethical thought, anthropology

Brief explanation regarding specialization

Over time, I have conducted research on the issue of Minamata disease from the angle of the history of ethical thought and anthropology. I have especially pondered connections between people, occasionally examining the question of what it means to conduct oneself. For quite a while, I have taken charge of classes consisting of writing exercises for first-year students. I took an interest in how the act of writing leads to the act of pondering questions.

Connect with others and expand your world by expressing the thoughts in your mind using words.

Specialization

Japanese language expression

Brief explanation regarding specialization

As I had conducted lectures on essays at a preparatory school for many years, I studied educational methods for Japanese language expression. I examine ideal ways of communicating to students the train of thought behind forming a deep understanding of a theme, setting one's own unique theme, and proceeding to argue it in a concrete and logical manner.

Modification in our behavior due to COVID-19 has significantly changed the nature of the world around us and our values. As digitalization accelerates and we are called upon to be considerate of the global environment, the human resources necessitated by the society of tomorrow will also become increasingly diverse. I hope that you, too, will take on the challenge of various things and build up your experience with a view to the changing times while remaining free of past conventions or conventional wisdom.

Specialization

Marketing, regional revitalization

Brief explanation regarding specialization

Regional development is not achievable unless industry, public administration and academia cooperate to tackle regional challenges. Over time, I have practiced leading-edge marketing methods at the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry and in the distribution market. I am especially well-versed in new product development, sales channel cultivation (both domestic and overseas) and information promotion efforts that leverage local resources.

In addition to being a part of our social infrastructure, nature is a high-potential concept that can be linked to multiple sectors to bring forth synergy. At the same time, with biodiversity in a critical state, both its preservation and revitalization are important themes. I am eager for opportunities to engage in co-creation projects together with you. Feel free to reach out to me.

Specialization

Natural environment policy, national land policy, green infrastructure, adventure tourism

Brief explanation regarding specialization

I engage in regional development projects across Japan for establishing vibrant, sustainable economies and societies through utilizing nature as well as preserving it. Moreover, it is important that natural environment policy be administered not solely through public administration, but also through horizontal cooperation among multiple entities that include corporations and NPOs. I also have an interest in system-building and consensus-building for such co-creation.

Specialization

Environmental policy

Brief explanation regarding specialization

I research environmental policy regarding biodiversity and climate change as well as regional development that leverages the natural environment.
